Manuel Ousted For Giving Report To Press Friend

WASHINGTON (AP)—An ousted Agriculture Department employee testified Friday he and an aide received $400 from Billie Sol Estes and used it to buy Democratic dinner tickets for the now indicted Texas financier.

James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, told the House Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee that two $100 money orders were sent to him and two to his aide, William E. Morris, early this year. Ralph said there was no accompanying letter from Estes, whose multi-million-dollar empire collapsed when he was indicted on fraud charges last March.

Outside the hearings, reporters were told by the subcommittee's discharged Republican counsel that Estes sent money orders to many congressmen and at least one high administration official.

The lawyer, Robert E. Manuel, was fired as the subcommittee's minority counsel Thursday for releasing a confidential Agriculture Department report dealing with Estes to a newspaper reporter before subcommittee members had read it.

Manuel told reporters Morris had the list of names of the money order recipients and the subcommittee is trying to get it. Morris is scheduled to follow

Ralph on the witness stand.

Ralph and Morris both were dismissed last month by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Ralph for using Estes' credit card to make personal long-distance calls and Morris for refusing to tell superiors about his relations with Estes. Morris is appealing his discharge.

Both were demoted by Freeman in February, for reasons apparently unconnected with the Estes case.

Ralph Testified

Ralph testified that when he and Morris received the money orders he asked Morris what they were for and his assistant expressed belief they were for tickets to the $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner marking the first anniversary of President Kennedy's inauguration.

Accordingly, Ralph said, he endorsed his two money orders to the California and National Democratic executive committees and sent Morris to national committee headquarters to purchase four dinner tickets. These were sent to Estes, Ralph said.

Ralph added "because I didn't like this sort of thing, I had my assistant write a memorandum to the secretary" about it, meaning Freeman.

Ralph testified that Morris contacted Estes after the Democratic dinner and told the Texas Ralph had been embarrassed by receipt of the $100 money orders.

"Estes said he didn't know he had sent me one," Ralph said Morris told him. "He told Morris he didn't think my name was on the list."

Ralph added he has no personal knowledge of anyone, other than himself and Morris, who received money orders from Estes.

Asked about Ralph's statement that he had reported the money order to Freeman, Thomas R. Hughes, executive secretary to Freeman, told a reporter: "We have absolutely no evidence of any memorandum to this effect being received by the secretary's office."

Before telling reporters there was a list of money order recipients, Manuel issued a statement generally denouncing the subcommittee inquiry and claiming it is being distorted to protect important political figures. He called it a one-party operation in criticizing Chairman L. H. Fountain, D-N.C.

Fountain said Manuel's claim "is obviously a political statement without foundation" and added, "It confirms my suspicion that his unauthorized release of a confidential document when not a single member of the committee had seen it was a political move."

The Republican Congressional Committee jumped into the fray with a charge that Manuel was "dumped when he found out Estes had chummy contacts" with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson had no immediate comment.

Statement Continued
The Republican Campaign Committee's statement continued: "Calling the Fountain subcommittee hearings an 'investigation' is a travesty, a fraud upon the American people and a testimony to the fact that America needs a Republican House to restore honesty to government."

Manuel said Carl J. Miller, an Agriculture Department employee, told him privately that Estes — in trying to pressure him in January of this year — invoked the names of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Area Chamber Meets Wednesday
THE June meeting of the chamber of commerce of Portland, Mt. Bethel and vicinity will be held at the Statford Hotel at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

James Charron will install newly-elected officers for the year at the session.

Excursion Boat Sails To Freedom

Highjacking Planned By Cook, 14 Refugees Flee East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A hijack crew led by the ship's cook knocked out the captain with liquor and a blow on the head and rammed an East Berlin excursion boat to freedom Friday amid a barrage of machine-gun bullets.

Fourteen refugees including a 14-month-old baby, reached shore unhurt after the 386-ton vessel slammed across the River Spree into a canal bank in the American sector.

"Pinch me so I realize I'm alive and out of communism," shouted the cook, Joerg Lindner, 22, after the perilous and spectacular dash. The white double-deck boat was riddled by more than 200 bullets fired by East German guards as it swung off course and churned up a wake at top speed toward the West.

West Berlin police fired at least 10 shots at East Berlin guards when Communist bullets began ripping into apartment houses on the Western side.

With Lindner on the boat Friedrich Wolf were seven men and five women, among them Lindner's friend Jutta, 17, and her baby.

It was the second attempt the group had made in a week to escape. A previous attempt on another river excursion boat had to be abandoned when a passing barge blocked the way into the Landwehr Canal in Western territory at the critical moment.

Thursday night Lindner and the steward, Dieter, who wants to keep his last name secret, decided to make another try.

The Friedrich Wolf, named for a Communist poet, was being overhauled at Treptow pier on the Spree in readiness for the opening of the river boat season this weekend.

Two mechanics came to work on the vessel. They asked where the Western border was and were told it was only two miles downstream.

"We immediately thought they wanted to flee, but they could have been plants by the police, too," Lindner said. "Boldly, fully realizing that our fate hinged on the reliability of the two, I filled them in on our plan. They joined the plot."

Excuse For Party

The presence of the two visiting mechanics provided an excuse for a drinking party with the captain and engineer, both loyal Communists.

The plotters poured most of four bottles of brandy, a bottle of wine and 12 pints of beer into the captain and engineer, but only pretended to drink themselves.

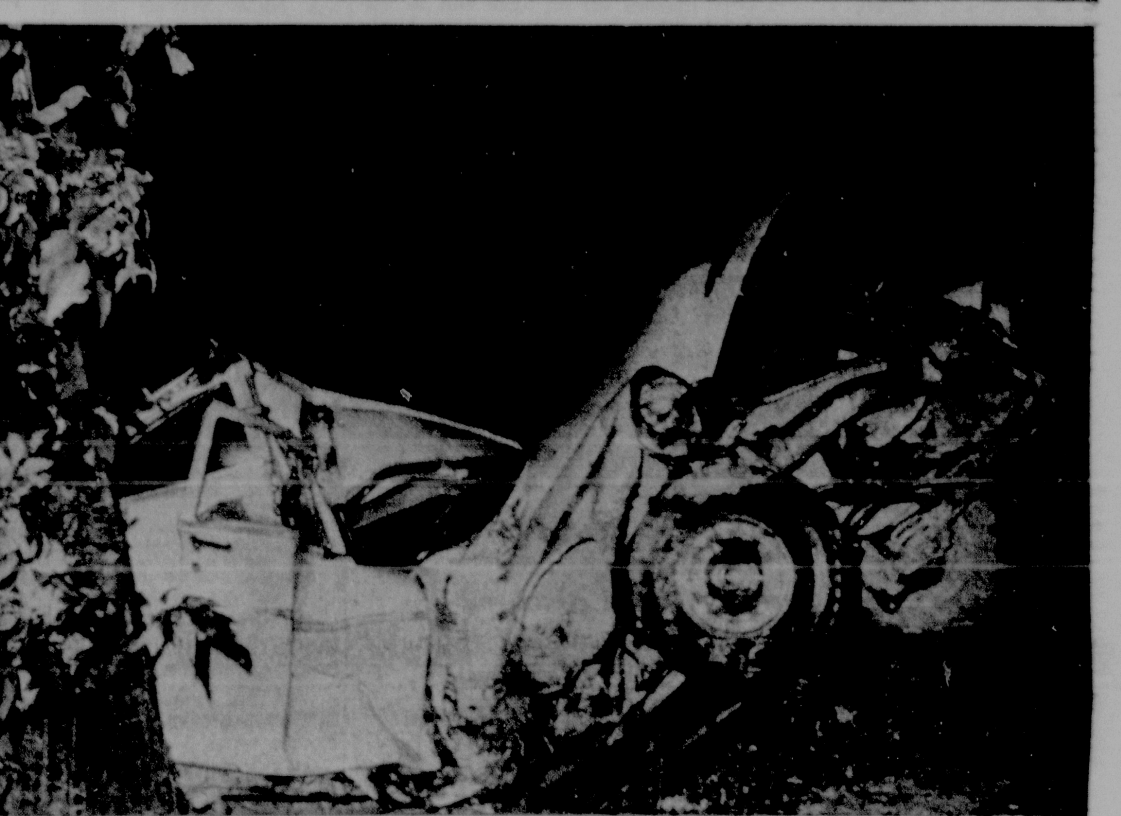

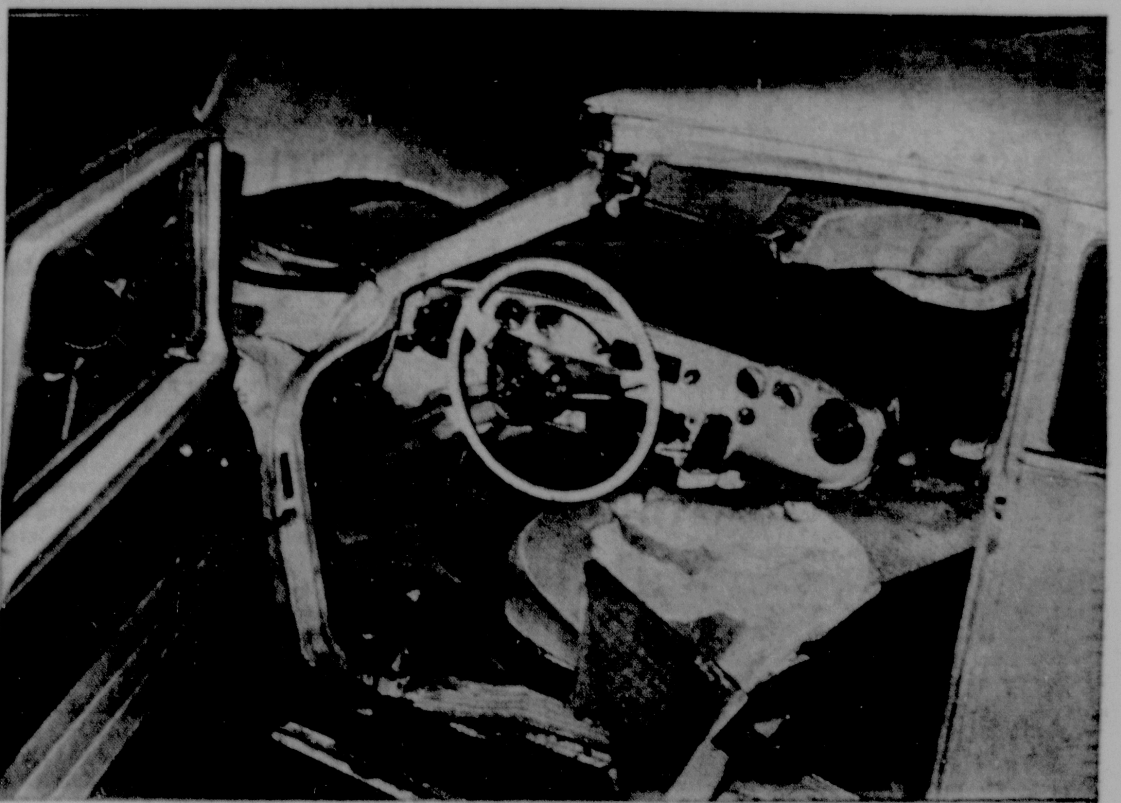

The intoxicated pair were then locked in their cabins. The other men and the women came aboard at 4:30 a.m. The bridge was fortified with steel plates, two experienced helmsmen took the wheel and the 725-passenger boat cast off.

The captain began to waken and make noises, but some of the men went in and gave him a knock on the head.

As the boat sailed down the stream in early morning light it was challenged by an East German police boat. But the hijackers had a story ready.

The helmsmen explained they were bound for Osthafen, just opposite the American sector, to pick up new generators.

Adds Another Chapter
Flight by boat added another chapter to the story of the Red wall in Berlin. East Berliners have got through it, over it, around it and under it by stealing a train, armor-plating trucks, jumping from windows, swimming and crawling through tunnels and sewers but never before by seizing an excursion boat.

Talks Resume Monday

Feuding Princes Encounter A Delay

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The three feuding princes of Laos encountered sudden delay Friday after a fast start on forming a coalition government for the embattled Southeast Asia kingdom. Distribution of Cabinet posts appeared to be causing trouble.

Adjourn Until Monday

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, backed by both the United States and the Soviet Union to head a coalition, announced the princely summit meeting decided to adjourn until Monday.

One or two unsettled points obliged us to postpone the meeting," he said, "and each party has demanded time for reflection."

Souvanna said one question still to be settled is who will represent a Vientiane group of neutrals in the coalition.

Neutrals in Vientiane, the administrative capital, back the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boum Oum, but do not side with either the Eastern or Western blocs internationally.

Souvanna was red-faced after a half-hour afternoon meeting with Boum Oum and Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, whose pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas control two-thirds of the country.

Made Some Agreements
He had announced in the morning, an agreement on a number of points, including assignment of the Ministry of Information to Souphanouvong.

Souvanna said he hoped Monday's meeting will be the last before he announces formation of a coalition Cabinet.

Boum Oum and his delegation, which includes strong man Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew back to Vientiane. They will return to the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres Monday.

Souvanna had told newsmen Thursday that very great progress was made in the first session. He said the three factions had agreed on the key issues, which group would get the Defense and Interior ministries and through them control of the army and police.

After the morning session, Souvanna said the conference agreed to give him the defense post. He said an agreement was also reached to give the interior and foreign affairs portfolios to two members of his neutralist party.

Bay State Dems Eye Ted, Ed

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Massachusetts Democrats got down Friday night to the brass tacks of their state party convention, the Kennedy-McCormack battle for a U.S. senatorial nomination.

The struggle between Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy and State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. came to a peak in a night session.

A toss of a coin decided that Kennedy's name would go before the convention first.

Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., nominated Kennedy as a man who "does not have to run on his name or on the accomplishment of his family, brilliant and lustrious as they may be."

Boland said in his prepared remarks the nomination "should not be given as a reward for services rendered—it should be given to the man who can best perform the work that must be done."

Chorus of Boos

A chorus of boos and jeers broke out when Boland reached that point in his speech.

As he went on, there were more boos but also some cheers from Kennedy supporters who waved signs in the gallery.

The delegate seats for the first time since the convention opened Thursday all were filled.

After Boland finished, Kennedy supporters set up a round of applause and cheers but, to spectators at least, as many delegates remained in their seats, showing no reaction.

McCormack's name was placed in nomination by Salvatore Camello, veteran official of the Rubber Workers Union.

Camello said in his prepared statement, "In every field of endeavor we find that leadership responsibilities are exercised by those who started out on the lower rung of the ladder and worked themselves upward—nobody starts at the top."

Asks Question

Camello, following some of the campaign line McCormack has taken in his contest with Kennedy, then asked the delegates: "Are we going to nominate a candidate on the basis of his qualifications, his accomplishments, his experience, or are we going to allow ourselves to be guided by other considerations?"

Largest Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee sided with the Air Force against President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on Friday in voting the biggest military money bill in peacetime history.

The committee sent to the Senate for expected floor action next Tuesday a bill that would provide the full $491 million requested by Air Force chief Gen. Curtis E. LeMay to speed development of the 2,000-mile-an-hour R570 reconnaissance strike airplane.

Kennedy's budget called for only $171 million to continue development of a prototype or experimental plane and McNamara turned a deaf ear to LeMay's appeal for more funds to speed up the work.

Total Appropriation

The total appropriation approved by the Senate committee for the fiscal year starting July 1 was $48,429,221,000.

This is $522 million more than Kennedy requested for the armed services and nearly $2 billion more than Congress voted last year for the current fiscal period.

The Senate group, which considered the bill under the pressures of Communist military action in Laos, added more than half a billion dollars to the totals voted by the House on April 18. The House raised Kennedy's R570 ante to $224 million, which was $53 million more than the President asked and $267 less than voted by the Senate group.

Along Berlin Wall

Western Powers Accused Of Provoking Incidents

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, apparently stung by continued spectacular escapes of East Germans from Communist East Berlin, threatened Friday to step directly into the explosive Berlin situation.

The Russians accused the Western powers of provoking incidents along the Berlin wall and declared they will not permit West Berlin to continue as a base for what they called revenge-seekers and militarists.

The statement — strongest the Russians have made recently on Berlin — was contained in notes to the United States, Britain and France.

Trace New York Doctor To Hideout In Canada

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal authorities said Friday they have traced a Queens physician to a Canadian hideout, and are reportedly prepared to close in on him. He is wanted in the abortion death and butchering of a 19-year-old convent school girl.

The victim was Barbara Lofmutter, whose body was dismembered into more than 100 pieces and deposited in a sewer leading from the doctor's lavish home and office. She was the daughter of a well-to-do pharmacist.

The physician, Dr. Harvey Lofmutter, 41, disappeared a few hours after the operation on Miss Lofmutter.

In Brooklyn late Friday, U.S. Commissioner Salvatore Abruzzo issued a federal warrant, charging Lofmutter with unlawful flight to avoid arrest on an abortion charge. The abortion cited is an earlier one not connected with Miss Lofmutter.

Assst. U.S. Atty. John Sullivan told reporters Lofmutter has been traced to the area of his family's hunting lodge about 60 miles north of Montreal. The arrest warrant is a necessary prelude to his seizure by Canadian authorities.

Dr. Lofmutter is believed to be ers with the threat of a direct conflict with the Soviet Union instead of East Germany.

The Soviet note to Britain, released by the Tass news agency, declared in reference to the border incidents: "It is absolutely obvious that such actions could not have taken place at all if the British and other occupation organs in West Berlin did not encourage the provocations."

"The Soviet government," it added, "will not be an indifferent onlooker and in case of need will be compelled to take appropriate steps to fulfill its commitments with regard to the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), which is an ally of the U.S.S.R."

"The intensified intrigues of the revengists and militarists in West Berlin prove once more how ripe is the task of normalizing the situation in West Berlin and for elimination there of the occupation regime," the note said—meaning withdrawal of the garrisons of the Western powers.

Lengthy Conferences
Issuance of the notes followed lengthy conferences here between Premier Khrushchev and East German Communist chief, Walter Ulbricht.

Leading the list of incidents which the Soviet Union complained about was a shooting affair May 23 between West Berlin police and East German guards in which one East German was killed.

West Berlin police said they were fired upon when they were helping a wounded boy who escaped from East Berlin, out of the water.

Queens Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor claimed evidence that Dr. Lofmutter was a member of a citywide abortion ring. He was under surveillance when he disappeared, and O'Connor said police were preparing to arrest him Monday on two other abortion cases.

Good Morning!

Those who complain about the way the ball bounces are usually the ones who dropped it.

Youth's Condition Guarded

KENNETH Holdorff, 17, Shawnee-on-Delaware, was reported in guarded condition last night in Monroe County General Hospital where he is being treated for injuries sustained in a one-car accident early yesterday morning.

Holdorff suffered a possible fractured skull and multiple cuts and bruises of the body about 12:30 a.m. when his car left the River Road, in Smithfield Township, and struck a utility pole.

He was pinned in the wreckage and an ambulance crew and passing motorists worked 45 minutes to release him.

The accident occurred one mile west of Shawnee. State Police here said Holdorff's eastbound car went off the right side of the road, took off the pole owned by Metropolitan Edison Co. and severed primary wires. Service to customers in the area was interrupted for more than two hours.

The car owned by the youth's mother, Agnes, was demolished. Damage to the pole was estimated at $150.

Holdorff, a senior at East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School, was scheduled to be graduated Sunday.

A 1948 Chevrolet dump truck was taken from a garage at a quarry near West Pen Argyl owned by Diamond Slate Co., Chief Donald R. Rohn of Plainfield Township reported yesterday.

Rohn said there was no sign of a forced entry into the building.

Air Pollution Study Is Started

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania legislators Friday launched a hearing into motor vehicle air pollution, aimed at possible stiffened state laws.

Several witnesses told the Joint State Government Commission, headed by Rep. Harris G. Breth, D-Clearfield, that exhaust fumes from autos, trucks and buses could cause lung cancer and otherwise be harmful to crops, animals and people.

Dr. Richard A. Prindle, deputy chief of the air pollution division of the United States Public Health Service, said the use of devices to trap exhaust fumes from motor vehicles is a necessary first step in cleaning the air.

He said, however, that most devices available today aren't completely infallible and would cost the average motorist about $45 a year to maintain.

Court Rules Inability To Sue Turnpike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission cannot be sued for damages as a result of accidents on the toll road, the State Supreme Court ruled Friday.

The high tribunal in a 4-1 decision that upheld the Dauphin County Court said the turnpike commission possesses "the same immunity from liability . . . as does the Commonwealth."

Justice Michael A. Musmanno, who dissented, said the majority's opinion means that a person injured in a turnpike accident, even if it is the result of negligence by agents or employees of the superhighway, can do nothing about collecting damages.

Chief Justice John Bell, for the majority, said the commission is an instrumentality of the Commonwealth and is engaged in a governmental function, thus under the law can't be sued for damages occurring in an accident. It can be sued, as can the state, on other matters.

Christ Speaks to the Churches ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 1:8; 11:25-29; Revelation 1—3.

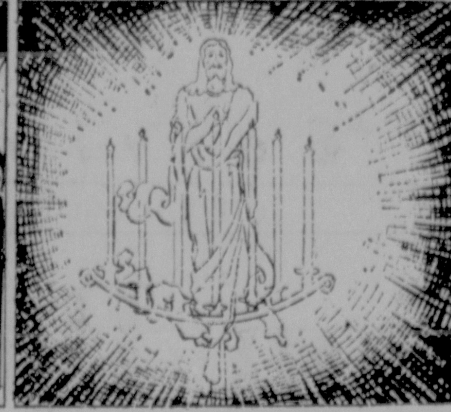

The last words of the risen Christ to his disciples before His ascension were, "And ye shall be My witnesses both in Jerusalem . . . and unto the uttermost part of the earth."—Acts 1:8.

This evangelism was being practiced well some 15 years later at Antioch, large and fast-growing city. When Barnabas had taught the Christians there all he knew, he brought Paul to the city.—Acts 11:25-26.

When a prophet named Agabus warned of severe famines to come, the Christians at Antioch voluntarily decided to establish a relief fund for their fellow-Christians in Judea, which would suffer more.—Acts 11:27-29.

Later, the ascended Christ revealed Himself amidst seven lampstands (churches), carrying seven stars (the churches' spirits); he commended each for its good works, condemned it for the bad.—Revelation 1—3. GOLDEN TEXT: Revelation 3:20.

Local Men To Attend Synod Sessions

C.J. KNEALING, Portland, and Rev. Charles J. Starzer, Roseto, will attend the 81st session of the United Presbyterian Synod of Pennsylvania in Grove City, June 11 through 13.

Among the items of business are, the election of a new moderator, the introduction of a synod-wide titling program, possible changes in the standing rules, abolition of capital punishment and a proposed operating budget of $140,000.

The session will represent 15 presbyteries and an overall church membership of 542,000.

Helsinki Assembly

THE fourth assembly of the Lutheran World Federation will be held in Helsinki, July 30 to August 11, 1963.

New Addition Will Be Dedicated Tomorrow

LEONARD Kranendonk will sing "Bless This House, O Lord I Pray" at the dedication ceremonies of the new Church School building of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

The dedication of the $60,000 addition will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. The building was begun last fall.

Gilbert Dunning and Mrs. Charles Schaller will participate in the proceedings, assisted by two of the children, Mark Kleinle and Dorothy Wingerter.

Members and friends have been invited to the service of praise and dedication.

Bible School Will Open At Holiness

DAILY Vacation Bible School will begin in the Pilgrim Holiness Church, 208 Main St., Stroudsburg, Monday June 18.

Classes for all ages will be under the supervision of Mrs. Hilda Metzgar, superintendent. All teachers will use the texts, "My Bible and I".

Classes will begin at 9 a.m. and continue to noon each day, from June 18 to June 22.

R. Eickmeyer Guest At Canadensis

CANADENSIS — Robert Eickmeyer, regional director, eastern area of American Leprosy Mission, will be guest speaker at the 8 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. worship services in the Canadensis Methodist Church.

The American Leprosy Mission works through the missionary personnel of 45 mission boards and cooperative groups to provide medical material social and spiritual help to more than 100,000 patients in 28 treatment centers in 27 countries.

Eickmeyer will be sponsored by the commission on missions, Mrs. Henry W. Weidaw, chairman.

For use in family devotions. Approximately 100 copies of the Old Common Service book will be placed in the north bell-rope narthex.

Confirmation At Bangor Lutheran

BANGOR — The Rite of Confirmation will be observed Sunday in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Bangor. Rev. Leon E. Phillips, will officiate at the service and the Communion service immediately following.

Confirmations are Wayne Bisher, James Brittain, Nancy Eichlin, Thomas Evans, Peter Fauerbach, Gary Hoskin, Charles Jones, Richard Jones, Helen Lane, Jane Oyer, Sherry Price, Matthias Reisen and LeRoy Steele.

The young people have been studying for a period of two years. The course has included the life of Christ, history of the Church and Christian doctrine as taught in Martin Luther's "Small Catechism."

Few save the poor feel for the poor.

Today's Lesson

Christ Speaks

By N. SPEER JONES

TODAY'S lesson concerns evangelism.

This is evident in our opening selection, in which the risen Christ gives what was probably His last message to His disciples before His ascension. It is both a command and a prophecy: His disciples shall be His witnesses — that is, they shall evangelize the world.

The Greek word which is translated "witness" is "martus," from which has come our word "martyr." Originally it meant one who testified at a trial. As so many Christians who thus testified about what they knew and had observed of Christ, were rewarded with death, the word changed to its present meaning — one who dies for a conviction.

Our next selection (Acts 11: 29) occurs about 15 years later, in about 45 A.D. Paul, or Saul, who had once spread the Gospel involuntarily by scattering the Christians through his persecutions, had been converted about 10 years earlier.

Some of the scattered Christians settled in Antioch (now far north in Syria), a city infamous for its moral laxity. It was also the third largest city in the Roman world, ranking after Rome and Alexandria.

The Christian immigrants there did their work well, as Barnabas discovered when the Jerusalem church sent him out to work with them. At length Barnabas realized that he had no more to teach the church at Antioch, so he went to Tarsus to seek Paul, the original persecutor, to further the evangelism at Antioch.

(Notice that the Christianity of the Antioch church at this time was in deed as well as in word; its members donated funds for the relief of their fellow-Christians stricken by famine in Judea.)

The third and last selection in today's lesson is from the book of Revelation, written some 45 years later, about 90 A. D. In it, John commits to writing certain revelations made to him by the ascended Christ, through the Holy Spirit.

In the portion assigned, John transmits to "the seven churches that are in Asia" messages given them by Christ in His revelation. Asia at that time referred to a Roman province of that name, located on the western side of what is now known as Asia Minor. It was a thriving area.

The letters involve a certain symbolism, based on the vision John was given — of Christ in the midst of seven lampstands (referring to the seven churches), carrying seven stars in His right hand. These seven stars represent the corporate personality or character of each church, expressed through a "representative angel" in Christ's presence.

All the letters are constructed around the same theme — a description of Christ, a commendation for what the church is doing (if possible), a rebuke (if deserved), an exhortation and a promise.

The cities of Smyrna and Philadelphia are too good to warrant a rebuke. On the other hand, the last city, Laodicea, is too bad to warrant commendation.

Yet even to it, He gives a most beautiful hope; He stands knocking, even there, promising to come to those who invite Him in.

YFC Director Appointed For Fall

LEO Frailey is the new club director of Monroe County Youth for Christ. Rev. Billy Smith, director of YFC announced the appointment of Frailey to his staff, beginning in September of 1962.

A product of the local Youth for Christ movement, Leo excelled in his belief in God, and in his desire to be of service to the community.

A graduate of Stroud Union High School, he was an outstanding athlete chosen for the all-tourney basketball team.

He was president of his class for all four years, member of the student council, and member of the Junior Honor Society.

On his graduation in 1960 he received the Arch Rundle Memorial award for outstanding athlete in Stroud Union School, and received the Robert Brown Achievement award.

He is currently a student at East Stroudsburg State College. Frailey feels that the most vital thing in the world today is to encourage teen-agers in the most important decision of their life. A life that is Christ centered and God honoring.

He will speak at the Youth for Christ Rally, at 18 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, Saturday night at 8 p. m.

Religion Today

Logotherapeutics

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer
Guilt . . . despair . . . a sense of being cast adrift . . . a yearning for some purpose or point in life.

These phrases may sound like the preachments of an evangelist, citing the effects of man's sinful alienation from God. But actually, the description comes from a major new psychiatric concept of modern man's basic inner problem.

The expanding new approach is called logotherapy, as pioneered by one of the world's leading psychiatrists, Dr. Viktor E. Frankl, director of the Neurological Poly-clinic of Vienna.

His findings, although strictly medical, point up many of the factors which ancient Judeo-Christianity has long contended were mankind's deepest trouble and need.

"The striving to find a meaning in life," Dr. Frankl says, "is a primary motivational force in man."

Various experimental research, he added, has shown that there is a definite correlation between mental health and the conviction that existence fills some significant end or objective.

Without this sense of meaning, a person falls into what Frankl terms an "existential vacuum."

This deep-seated psychoneurosis, marked by depression, apathy and a bleak, lonely sense of futility about living, is becoming increasingly widespread in the 20th century world, Frankl said.

In submitting his resignation to the denomination's General Council, Dr. Peters said he had accepted the call of the Collingswood Presbyterian Church, Toledo, Ohio, beginning next Fall. He will succeed the Rev. T. Christie Innes, now pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh.

Dr. Peters assumed his present post in 1949, previously serving pastorates in McVeytown, Huntingdon and Germantown.

Among his other church activities, Dr. Peters served as president of the Philadelphia Council of Churches, as a member of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and as a fraternal delegate from the United Presbyterian Church to the general assemblies of the United Church of North India and the Presbyterian Church of Australia.

He has also been active in the ecumenical movement, representing his denomination in the National Council and World Council of Churches, and the World Presbyterian Alliance.

A native of Philadelphia, Dr. Peters attended Lafayette College, Easton, and the University of Pittsburgh. After receiving his theological training at Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, he later was awarded a doctorate in church history at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

He is married to the former Emma Ayres, and is the father of three children. The couple presently resides at 56 West Glenn Avenue, Ridgewood, N.J.

Methodists To Honor Children

THE annual Children's Day service will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Children in the Sunday school will present a program. During the service members of the junior and senior high schools will be given special recognition.

The early service will be held at 8:30 a. m. with Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. The program will be presented only at the 10:30 a. m. service. Boys in Raymond Mansfield's class will be ushers.

Children's Crusade To Be Held

A CHILDREN'S Crusade will be conducted by the First Pentecostal Assembly of God, 135 Stokes Ave., Stroudsburg, beginning Monday June 18 and ending Friday, June 22. Classes will run from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m.

The crusade is designed for children between the ages of 4 and 14. Memory work, prizes and object lessons will be under the supervision of Rev. and Mrs. Oliver Dalaba.

Children needing transportation may call HA 1-8302.

Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate.

Leo Frailey

Leo Frailey is the new club director of Monroe County Youth for Christ. Rev. Billy Smith, director of YFC announced the appointment of Frailey to his staff, beginning in September of 1962.

A product of the local Youth for Christ movement, Leo excelled in his belief in God, and in his desire to be of service to the community.

A graduate of Stroud Union High School, he was an outstanding athlete chosen for the all-tourney basketball team.

He was president of his class for all four years, member of the student council, and member of the Junior Honor Society.

On his graduation in 1960 he received the Arch Rundle Memorial award for outstanding athlete in Stroud Union School, and received the Robert Brown Achievement award.

He is currently a student at East Stroudsburg State College. Frailey feels that the most vital thing in the world today is to encourage teen-agers in the most important decision of their life. A life that is Christ centered and God honoring.

He will speak at the Youth for Christ Rally, at 18 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, Saturday night at 8 p. m.

Norris Transferred To Eastern

GERALD E. Norris, 24, East Stroudsburg, RD 3, was transferred to Eastern State Penitentiary yesterday by Monroe County Sheriff Jacob F. Altomose.

Norris, who was sentenced to serve six to 13 years after pleading guilty to a series of burglaries, still has a prison breach charge to face in court here.

He was charged with the latter offense after he broke away from sheriff's deputies after being sentenced on May 31 and ran two blocks before he was recaptured. The prison breach charge will probably be presented to the September grand jury.

A Cardio-Surgeon Makes His Routine Rounds In A Hospital

By Pat Williams
Daily Record Reporter

THERE are a great number of Monroe County residents who owe their lives and even the regular beat of their hearts to Dr. Charles Bailey, president of the American College of Surgeons and pioneer in open-heart surgery.

Doing open-heart surgery 10 years ago was not, nor is it now, considered child's play. The risk was great, but the risk not to have surgery was even greater. Dr. Bailey opened not only the field, but hearts.

Written up in medical journals, periodicals and being interviewed for newspapers gave many facets of the famous man, but none were as indicative of the man as a personal glimpse afforded a student nurse nine years ago in Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia.

The rustle of the morning charge nurse's starched uniform preceded her down the hall. Her rubber soled shoes made squeaky sounds as she rounded the corner of the nurse's station and went up to Miss McCutcheon, the student nurse.

"Put the patient's charts in the rack, Dr. Bailey is going to make grand rounds today," she ordered briskly. Things moved a bit snappier on 8th Chest Surgery when "The Doctor" was to arrive.

Preparations

Miss McCutcheon dropped the metal charts into the wheeled rack, in order by room and bed numbers. All the charting had been done, for the patients who had received morning bed care and the medications had been written down by the head nurse.

Within a few moments, Dr. Bailey rounded the corner and came down the hall followed by two interns, a resident and a stray medical student who had sensed that grand rounds were in order. "Good morning," Dr. Bailey greeted the nurses, "Shall we begin?" With those words, he turned, missed bumping into the medical student who had, in awe, stopped right behind him, and led the procession.

The group moved down the hall, the young doctors clustered around Dr. Bailey, soaking up every word. The charge nurse followed, her shoes squeaking on the waxed tile floor, carrying the first two charts. Miss McCutcheon brought the chart rack clattering behind.

Running Conversation

Dr. Bailey kept up a running conversation, with the interns and resident asking questions and listening with enthusiasm. This was one of the few chances they had to catch up on the research being done at the clinic building across Broad St., where patients from all over the Eastern seaboard came for help for their damaged hearts.

Each Patient Visited

As each patient was visited, a resume of the case was presented by the doctor or intern in charge and Dr. Bailey would give his view on the treatment and offer words of encouragement to the person in bed.

Obituaries

They were greeted with numerous calls of "Hi, Doc." And when Dr. Bailey heard, he waved or called out in answer.

Miss McCutcheon heard the desk phone ring but before she could get to the door of the room, the charge nurse had already swung through and gone to answer it. Dr. Bailey held out his hand for the next chart, Miss McCutcheon managed to find the right one and present it.

The patient had been operated on for a damaged heart and was of special interest to Miss McCutcheon as he was the representative case chosen for her chest surgery case study.

Dr. Bailey opened the chart and read the notes inside as the resident gave a resume of Harry's history. Harry, pleased with the show, grinned from the other end of the bed.

Patient Reports

"Well, Harry," Dr. Bailey smiled, "How are you feeling now?"

"Fine, Doc," Harry's smile grew wider. "You did a good job on my ticker."

Dr. Bailey nodded his appreciation and told Harry it wouldn't be much longer before he would be able to go home.

Rounds were nearly over. The intensive occupation of the past hour had Miss McCutcheon on a better level of understanding not only of Harry's case but the more than 20 others in her care.

The charge nurse returned and the group went to the last room on the hall. The interns, resident, medical student, charge nurse, and finally the student nurse, lined around the bed. The patient had been one that had them all "pulling for him".

He had come to the hospital unconscious and been that way for more than a month. When he did regain consciousness, a series of tests gave proof that he would be dead in less than a second month unless one of the valves in his heart were opened. It had grown nearly shut through an infection.

Surgery had not given the patient back his life: it had given him a whole new one — a life with a bright future with many years packed into it.

As the doctors stood around the bed, discussing the progress of the patient and talking with him, the student nurse, who had been thrilled at the prospect of making grand rounds with "The" Dr. Bailey, was treated to a sight for which he is famous. As he discussed the future with the patient, he took off his steel-rimmed glasses and polished them on his necktie.

The Bread Tax

In less than a week, the House is likely to be considering the Administration's new farm legislation — which is calculated to increase the price of food and the cost of the agricultural program as well.

It's a bill that should be opposed by everyone who eats. And, oddly enough, the farmers who are supposed to benefit from it are opposing it through their Farm Bureau Federation. The bill threatens naked coercion for the farmers, and they don't like it.

Key provision is that which would require every miller and processor of wheat for human consumption to buy "certificates" with his wheat. The farmer who wants to sell wheat must have a certificate to sell, too. This paper not only establishes how much wheat he will be allowed to raise, but also entitles him to a bonus price which the consumer ultimately must pay.

That's why the certificate idea has been called a "bread tax."

Theoretically, two thirds of the farmers who grow wheat must approve this plan before it can go into effect. But the Administration has a weapon to make sure the farmers vote for it.

This plan will be presented for balloting with an alternative. And the alternative not only would cancel all price supports on wheat, but also authorize the Commodity Credit Corporation to dump mountains of surplus wheat on the market to drive the price down. So the farmers will have a choice between accepting the Administration plan or approving the collapse of the wheat market.

Stiff controls would be put on feed grain production, too, which would assure higher meat, egg and poultry prices. And new production controls are provided for dairy production, which should send up the cost of milk.

It's hard to see why an Administration which will use all its weapons to prevent a steel price increase in the name of maintaining price stability, will use weapons just as potent to force up the price of food.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Judges Are Something Special

It should not have been necessary for Chief Justice John C. Bell Jr. of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to remind Pennsylvania judges of judicial ethics.

But Justice Bell had to do just that when he declared it is a violation of the Pennsylvania Constitution for judges to receive fees for arbitrating private cases.

The pronouncement stemmed from a Philadelphia case involving a judge who acted as an arbitrator in a dispute arising from a case before his court and in another dispute developing from that and, in the words of Justice Bell, "had accepted a large fee for his services as an arbitrator in each matter."

Justice Bell cited information other judges engaged in similar practices.

This, he believed, made the issue an important public matter, not one to be ignored or hushed up.

This was a proper attitude, although the justice may have been a bit too kind when he expressed confidence the practice of receiving fees for private arbitration cases was engaged in without realization of constitutional violation.

Bell observed that "in the minds of the people, a judge is on a different and higher plane than other public officials."

This is true. For this very reason judges should know the legal and constitutional restrictions upon them and certainly should be prepared to eschew activities likely to damage or destroy the public image of their professional and social status.

When lawyers become judges and accept the responsibilities and rather handsome emoluments of the office they also set themselves above and apart from the legal profession's normal activities for fees.

It is regrettable that some Pennsylvania judges forgot or ignored this. It is to be hoped the practice has been ended by Justice Bell's comments.

A Look Back

In the discussions about Cuba and Indonesia, Laos and elsewhere, it is clear that the State Department, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, developed a concept that there were good dictators and bad dictators, honest men and dishonest men and that political judgments were to be based upon such psychological considerations.

This is brought out most clearly in a memorandum dated March 9, 1943, signed by John Davies, Jr., the Second Secretary of the American Embassy in China. Discussing the Stilwell Mission to China, Davies wrote: "We recognized before December 7, 1941 that China was endeavoring to get us to fight its battle against Japan. There has been no reason for a change in this Chinese attitude and there has in fact been no change, despite the disillusioning shock of Pearl Harbor which struck the Chinese with as great force as it did us."

This was written on March 9, 1943. The Chinese had been fighting the Japanese since 1931. The Japanese had taken Manchuria and the major commercial port of Shanghai. China had stood alone for 10 years until the United States entered the war. Beset by Communist activities, supported by Russia, China had fought valiantly and unconquered.

But Davies wrote: "We have not bled enough for the liking of the Russians, the British or the Chinese. With political considerations looming so large in their calculations they are each fighting not only the common enemies but also, in a negative fashion, their allies."

What allies did China really have in 1943? Could she have regarded the Russians as allies, knowing that for centuries it had been Russian policy to conquer China? Chiang Kai-shek would have been a fool had he not realized that in the war against Japan, he would have no ally in Soviet Russia. And the fact is that Russia never came into the Far Eastern War until it was really over and then came in, for about a week, for the kill.

Davies also wrote: "In his efforts to short-circuit domestic politics, General Stilwell has as much as possible dealt directly with the Generalissimo. But the Generalissimo maintains his paramount position as he attained it — through political manipulation. He is not a dictator. He has no absolute over-all command. He manipulates a delicate and shifting balance of power. So there is no one with sure and final authority with whom General Stilwell can deal."

General Stilwell's task was to win the war. That is what he was sent to China to do. But he really set out to change China. The Chinese people have no concept of self-government. China had never been a national state. It was, in effect, a vast conglomeration of local self-governments — of village self-governments. Whereas the Emperor possessed great authority, the village was much like a New England township.

If a man were asked what he belonged to, he would say Canton or Ningpo or some such place. It has always taken the finest diplomacy to hold China together. I do not mean only during the regime of Chiang Kai-shek, but throughout the history of the country.

It is possible to go on quoting Davies line by line to indicate an intellectual arrogance. Not even Mao Tse-tung has been able to change China, Davies wrote:

"China is badly in need of the Puritan spirit. The Chinese have not produced it themselves excepting, in a modified form, in the Generalissimo. If the Chinese Army is to be regenerated, it must be through General Stilwell. What he says sometimes stings the Chinese."

"But it has not gone wholly unappreciated. More than a score of high-ranking Chinese officers have come to him privately telling him that he was doing China a great service by his forthrightness, that he is needed, and to keep on going straight down the road. And as has been said, even his political enemies have been impressed by what he has in six months produced at Ramgarh. He may yet perform what has seemed impossible — cause the launching of a Chinese offensive against the Japanese. If it happens it will have been a one-man achievement."

And that is what policy was based on!

When truth is clear, then go ahead. Learn how to gain and do without.

Be careful what is done and said. And guard your soul, when there is doubt.

Business needs a wider view. So much that should be known. The hardest thing that I should do

Is just to mind my own.

Admonition is an art. It should fall gently as the dew. Then it will settle in the heart. And help the person to be true.

Inside You And Yours

Man Behind The Needle

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.

Injections aren't enough! Your allergist has to be family doctor and psychiatrist, too.

Wheezes and sneezes are emotionally loaded. Tense nerves can also bring on asthma's swelling, mucus and bronchial spasm.

When house-dust allergy triggered Bobby's asthma, he turned blue struggling for air. At the hospital he could breathe easily. In the calm, confident hospital atmosphere, dust brought specially from home made no difference.

Watching Bobby choke and struggle terrified Mom. Her child had to be perfect.

Like so many other mothers, she took over, eager and anxious. She martyred herself to every task. But how could she love a sickly child?

Laid Down The Law She made all Bobby's decisions, eliminated foods she disliked and regulated every minute of his day.

But Bobby couldn't be perfect; no child can! He sensed Mom's terror and grew afraid. School became a fear-filled nightmare. Only the doctor's needle seemed worse.

Anything new created panic; he never learned to make decisions on his own. Frightened, explosive and irritable, he tried to fight back.

Unhappy Results Temper tantrums exploded daily. He'd sneak bites of forbidden food and choke, wheeze and strangle.

Mom fumed, rigid controls tightened until the allergist explained that asthma sufferers need confident, loving mothers and relaxed reins. With modern treatment to control even the worst attacks, Mom needn't panic.

Let Junior explode and release pent-up pressures and they won't make him choke and wheeze. Help him to learn self-confidence.

Mistakes Natural Don't worry about mistakes. Everyone falls while learning to walk.

Let the doctor decide which foods are forbidden. Relax, and fill the air with tender love, not top sergeant discipline. Every home needs wall-to-wall affection.

This psychological shot in the arm helped Bobby more than years of allergy shots!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A 5-year-old girl in Wellesley Hills, reports Ernie Heyn, was looking forward with wild excitement to her first day in school.

When the great day dawned, she bounced out of bed at seven, and was outside waiting for the bus at eight. She was still enthusiastic when she got home that afternoon.

The next morning, however, when her mother woke her at seven-thirty, the little girl wasn't quite so happy. "What?" she protested angrily. "Again?"

Back from France in 1918, General Pershing stopped long enough in Philadelphia one day to have an infected tooth yanked out. A short time later, he discovered that the dentist had sold the tooth for twenty dollars to a collector. Enraged, Pershing had an order printed in the Philadelphia papers demanding the immediate return of his tooth. 317 teeth arrived by the following morning's mail.

Mrs. Green, invited to a Broadway musical, hired a new baby-sitter to take care of her obstreperous brood. "I don't care how much they protest," Mrs. Green told the girl. "I want every last one of them in bed by ten o'clock."

When she came home, humming the hit song from the show she had seen, she asked the baby-sitter, "Well, did you get them all tucked in by ten?" "I did," reported the girl proudly, "but that oldest boy, the red-headed one, put up an awful holler first."

"The red-headed one?" echoed Mrs. Green. "THAT'S MY HUSBAND!"

John Drury tells of a south Georgian boy who was taken to Chicago one January and saw snow for the first time. He stared in wonder from his hotel room window at the snow-blanketed street below and cried to his mother, "Look, ma! Grits all over!"

Teacher Boyden was convinced that one of his wide-eyed young innocents was cheating consistently, but never was able to catch him in the act. What to write on the lad's report card? Teacher Boyden finally came up with, "forging his way steadily ahead."

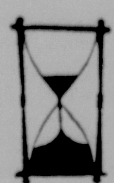

Overhead in an East End of London pub:

"Ow did poor old Alfie die?" "E fell through some scaffolding."

"Whatever was 'e doing up there?" "They was 'agin' him."

Notes that wise Cleveland, Bill Feather: "If a writer gets hold of a fancy word like caducity, he is likely to overdo its use. Another silly word to add to one's vocabulary is caecography. I learned about that one for the first time just now when I was looking up caducity!"

For his informative book, "Actors Talk About Acting," Author Lewis Funke asked top-star Paul Muni what he thought of the "Method School" of acting. "I have my own method," replied Muni. "It's something like the method my mother used to make apple pie. A friend told mama one day, 'Your apple pie is out of this world. Break down and tell me the recipe.' Mama thought for a minute, then replied, 'Well, I wash my hands, comb my hair, put on a clean apron — and then I make apple pie.'"

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Dissertation On Baseball, Archaic Laws, Japanese Girl Wants Help, And Thanks

Calls Law Archaic

Editor, The Daily Record:

I wish to protest the recent incarceration of one, Percy Green, for alleged moonshining, his subsequent acquittal, but though innocent, saddled with the onus of bearing the costs.

It is an archaic law, I submit which denies a man the right to make, and consume or sell, in small quantities, respectable beverages.

We license the professional gambler, we allow sadistic "sports" as boxing and professional "wrestling", and con trapeze acts are openly dispensed in public bathrooms.

Tobacco is licensed for sale in all its forms, the government allocates and underwrites its production, yet the preponderance of evidence is that it causes lung cancer. Illicit liquor, in a few instances, has the stigma of having caused a number of people to become blind, insane, or to die. This is due primarily to the handicap of officials and the handicap of getting suitable equipment.

Sincerely, Glen Fisher E. Stroudsburg, Pa.

Says Thanks

Editor, The Daily Record:

The officers of the East Stroudsburg Little League wish to thank publicly both the police department and the junior band of East Stroudsburg.

Chief Travis Seese, with his assistant Harry Lanahan, handled the traffic very efficiently. Without their excellent control, the parade would not have been possible.

The band, under the watchful eye of Mr. Zellner, performed magnificently. Enough words of appreciation cannot be expressed for their effort.

Again, thanks to both organizations for making the parade possible.

Officers of the East Stroudsburg Little League

More Thanks

Editor, The Daily Record:

This letter is being sent to express our thanks to the voluntary rescue squad, Red Cross unit, fire department and police department for their brave efforts in trying to save the life of our son, John Grilli Jr., who drowned in McMichael's Creek on May 5th.

We would also like to thank any other people who assisted in the search.

Sincerely, The Grilli Family Union City, N.J.

Veteran's Guide

Q — I have read that GI loans have ended for World War II veterans.

A — World War II veterans begin to lose GI loan eligibility after July 25, 1962, according to this formula: To the ten-year period following their last discharge from active wartime service add one year for each three months of active service. The date so reached is the termination of their GI loan eligibility with these two exceptions — (a) if that date is before July 25, 1962, they still have, by law, until July 25, 1962, to make loan application; (b) the final termination of World War II eligibility is July 25, 1967, no matter what their individual date may be. Veterans should note that "loan application" means the actual application by the lending agency to the VA for guaranty and not the veteran's request for a loan.

Q — Are there any VA educational benefits for children whose veteran-parent is still alive?

A — No. The VA's educational benefits for children are based on the fact that the veteran-parent is dead and thus unable to provide the child's education.

Q — Can young people entering the service today take out GI insurance?

A — GI insurance is no longer being issued.

There is no particular relation between what you want and what you need, which makes merchandising a fascinating art.

Editor, The Daily Record:

The American League pennant race is closer now, than it has been in the past decade, and the National League is playing very good baseball also. When one picks up the sports page and sees five American League ball teams within 2½ games of the league lead he realizes that perhaps the Yankee dominance of the American League is a thing of the past.

Instead of seeing names such as Maris, Mantle and Ford in the headlines, they are seeing Donovan, Pasquale, Essegian, Allison, Francona, Moore and Duren, only to name a few. In the national league it is Purkey, Pierce, Simmons, Brosnan, Mays and Kueen, instead of Spahn, Law, Friend, Jay, Cepeda and Robinson.

The reader might ask himself why all of a sudden stars of the past few years are no longer in the headlines? The answer of course would be due to the fact that the so-called washed-up veterans are making brilliant and unbelievable comebacks, stronger than any before. This is the reason for the closeness of the pennant races.

Dick Donovan was with the Braves, White Sox and Senators before moving to Cleveland. He was perhaps the smartest pitcher in both leagues but in Milwaukee he was overshadowed by Spahn and Burdette and in Chicago by Fox and Aparicio.

Last year with the last place Washington Senators he showed his pitching potential by leading the American League in Earned Run Average, which is amazing for a pitcher of a last place ball club. This year he is one of the vital reasons why the Cleveland Indians are where they are today.

Camilo Pasquale was always with the old Washington Senators and was regarded as a top flight American League pitcher, but not until Calvin Griffith

Japanese Girl Wants Help

Editor, The Daily Record:

I am writing this letter asking for your help. I would be very happy if you kindly insert my sincere desire in a proper column of your paper.

I am a Japanese girl named Toshiko Yamashita. My family consists of my parents, myself and a younger sister. My father is a judge in the Osaka District Court. In the spring of 1961, I graduated from a university in Tokyo, and now I am working in the business department of The Mainichi Daily News (the English language edition) in Kobe.

In fact, I would like to become a guide for tourists from abroad, as I am interested in history and fine arts of ancient Japan. And more than anything else, as I love Japan, I want to introduce to foreigners Japan as it really is. Tourists from abroad are increasing in number every year, and the tourist guide plays a very important role as a "civilian diplomat." The tourist guide is, in a sense, a representative of Japan. It is well said that understanding through travel is the passport for peace.

I am sure that working as a guide is worth an effort. But the tourist guide must pass the state examination, competition of which is quite keen.

Truly Yours, Toshiko Yamashita S. 44-2, Ryodo-cho Nishinomiya, Hyogo, Japan

Local Man Seeking Parole

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — The State Board of Pardons said yesterday it will consider an application of Roy Goucher, 26, sentenced in Monroe County court on charges of burglary, to be placed on parole, at its session on June 25 and 26 in the State Office Building in Philadelphia.

Goucher, of East Stroudsburg, was sentenced on October 18, 1960 to a prison term of from three to seven years on his plea of guilty to three burglaries. He is serving his sentence in the State Correctional Institution in Rockview.

In his application to be placed on parole, Goucher told the board that he and three accomplices burglarized three business establishments of articles valued at about $500. He said that all the stolen goods was returned after his arrest except items worth about $25.

DA's Letter
In a letter to Goucher, which accompanied his application to the board, Monroe County District Attorney James R. Marsh advised the prisoner that he (Marsh)

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

And aren't we the busy things! It comforts me to realize that a lot of people are suffering the way I do so often trying to choose between a surfeit of pleasant things to do.

East Stroudsburg High Alumni are particularly hard hit with the banquet AND the Laurel Blossom extravaganza the same night and so many of the seniors and the singers taking part.

But at least they are holding on to a tradition that went by the boards many years ago at Stroud Union, and hasn't had time to get started at the brand new Pocono Mountains and Pleasant Valley.

There are many circumstances that work against alumni banquets, the primary one being this very thing: that June is such a busy month with so many conflicting activities that it's impossible to find a free night.

Numbers also are a problem. With graduating classes getting larger and larger, it's difficult to find a place big enough to hold it especially with the resort season getting underway, and the costs keep soaring. Not to mention that alumni scatter more than they used to.

However it's a tradition that has much to recommend it. Class reunions are wonderful things but they can't quite take the place of the alumni banquet where the continuity is the thing. You can see what happened to that curly-headed senior boy you had a crush on when you were a freshman, and at the same time admire the graduating son or maybe grandson of the girl who used to share your seat in study hall.

For the graduating classes there are many more festivities than there used to be — class parties, class picnics, after-graduation parties and breakfasts so I don't suppose the seniors look forward to the Alumni Banquet with the same eagerness we used to.

School spirit, sentimental associations, and parties for mixed generations are rather out of style, I suppose, but I for one would be sorry to see our last bulwark of them go.

Wagner Alumni Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barbour, of Westfield, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Joyce, to Wesley Werkheiser, son of Mrs. Arthur Peter-son, of Bagota, N. J., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh, East Stroudsburg.

Miss Barbour was graduated from Wagner College, Staten Island with a bachelor of science degree in nursing.

Mr. Werkheiser, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, was also graduated from Wagner College majoring in Economics. He will enter Army service.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

Bangor Juniors Have Fete At Mountain Manor

Bangor — The junior class of Bangor Area Joint High School held its banquet at the Mountain Manor Inn, Marshall Creek.

Terry Brodt, class president, was master of ceremonies, Randy Dietrich, vice president, gave the invocation.

Remarks were by Dr. Trevor Williams and Arnold F. Wynne, class adviser.

Other class officers who aided in making arrangements were Judy Houck, secretary and Diane Ackerman, treasurer.

Chaperons attending the banquet in addition to Dr. Williams and Mr. Wynne were Mrs. Trevor Williams, Mrs. Arnold Wynne, Mrs. Donald Rockwell, senior class adviser; Rockwell, and Armon Williams, sophomore class adviser, and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wagner, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Young.

Guests of the class were Barry Sleep, senior class president and Sherwood Heard, sophomore class president.

Committee members who made arrangements for the banquet were Pam Wise, Diane Ackerman, Kay Williams, Bill Lange, Helen Handeling and Terry Wildrick, program Jane Duloc, David Horn, Virginia Stine, Betsy Keen and Roslyn Calazzo, guest list; Carol Strauss, Frank Holland, Judy Vester, Kay Hill and Brenda Fehr, transportation, and Gail Dobler, Thomas Moyer, Crista Leidy, Kim Bisher, and Brian Leverington, chaperons.

Summer Bazaars Scheduled By Altar, Rosary

Mount Pocono — Plans for the summer bazaars to be held at the Pocono Missions School by the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary of the Mount Catholic Church were started at the meeting held on Wednesday night in the church auditorium.

Dates chosen are July 7 and 8 and Sept. 1 and 2. The bazaars will be a joint project of all parishes of the Pocono Catholic Missions. Committees were named to make arrangements and to work at the booths.

Committee chairmen reported on events since the May meeting including: the successful bake sale, The Monroe-Pike Deaneary meeting at Brodheadsville was reported by Mrs. May McGinley who brought suggestions concerning recreation for the students at the Mission School. They will be studied at a meeting of the Deaneary board to be held Thursday, June 26 at Evergreen Lodge, Milford.

Mrs. John Sutton, alternate to the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, reported on the convention held at Genetti's Lodge, Hazleton.

The Altar and Rosary plan to sponsor a nursery for pre-school children while their parents attend 9:30 mass on Sunday. When plans are completed two mothers will be in charge each week.

Visitors to the sick for the month are Mrs. Fran Besdecki and Mrs. Henry Siderski. Hostesses for July are Miss Ellen Regan, Mrs. Robert Murry, Mrs. Bernard Pallo and Mrs. Lino Morelli.

Rev. John Walsh serves as moderator in the absence of Rev. William Cusick who is on retreat. Mrs. George Reiz presided at the meeting with 35 members present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Andrew McGinley, Mrs. Louis Hartman, Mrs. William McCarthy and Mrs. Robert Passanti.

Mrs. Davis President Of Gap PTA

Delaware Water Gap — Mrs. Delbert Davis was nominated from the floor and elected president of the Delaware Water Gap Parent-Teachers Assn. at the May meeting at the school.

Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser had been elected at the April meeting but resigned before assuming any of the duties.

Mrs. Donald Nase, retiring president, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Stephen Matos reported on the meeting of the Stroud Union School Board when members of the PTA had appeared in a successful appeal to keep the elementary school in the village.

For the third meeting, members discussed what to do with the PTA funds now in the treasury.

Playground equipment was among the favorite projects and Mrs. Anthony Del Campo was named to secure prices of the equipment wanted.

Parents of children in the first two grades favored a special trip for the children. Mrs. Matos, Mrs. Willard Jennings and Mrs. Del Campo were requested to find out about cost of transportation.

Library books were another project, and it was decided that in the future books purchased for the school library should be marked as the property of the PTA.

Mrs. R. Donaldson, Mrs. Matos and Mrs. Jean Davis were named to the auditing committee.

Installed with Mrs. Davis as president were Mrs. Alford Reisenwitz, vice president; Mrs. Matos, secretary; Mrs. John Wilson Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. Davis named her committees for the coming year: ways and means, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. William Elchhoff; hospitality, Mrs. William Fisher; publicity, Mrs. Matos; banking, Mrs. Irwin Flynn and Mrs. Louis Smolak membership, Mrs. Anthony Del Campo and Mrs. Smolak; program, Mrs. Willard Jennings and Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to an evaluation of the year's programs. Favorite program was the speech by the music instructor for Stroud Union.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Matos and Mrs. Smolak.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

TAKING A LESSON IN PAINTING are the three pretty young women shown above watching Clarence Walters, Court House custodian, as he touches up one of the benches in Court House Square. Maybe they are pondering just how soon it will be safe for them to relax there in their Sportswear from Wyckoff's. Maybe they're hoping for a few tips on how to apply paint to their own features before a floodlighted walk down the runway at the Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show at Tamiment-in-the-Poconos, Wednesday evening, June 13th, at 8:30. Or maybe they're just thinking that any fellow can paint a bench green but it takes a big fashion show to snap the "green light" on for the Summer social season in the Poconos. Among the models, who will be fitted for the Wyckoff half of the show this coming Monday evening at 6:30 at Wyckoff's, are Jean Marean, Kate Mullins, and Ericka Schantz. Tickets are available at Wyckoff's Gift Wrap Center or from any Hadassah member. And oh yes... the road to Tamiment is a wonderful one... a really pleasant drive with NO DETOURS this year!

Denominations Join For Fellowship

Two denominations who shared the Fifth St. Mission in Stroudsburg for services for some time, also combined for a fellowship supper this week. The Presbyterian group which meets at the Mission on Sunday afternoons, joined with members of the Christian Missionary Alliance for the outing.

There were 70 present. Mrs. B. Taffinger, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Benjamin Parry and Janet Hoke of East Stroudsburg planned the menu and called the members. Mrs. Howard Widmer and Mrs. William Williams of East Stroudsburg and Mrs. John Neipert assisted at the buffet.

Before dinner, men of both groups kept the young people busy for two hours with games in the recreation basement. After the meal, John Neipert, superintendent of the Mission Sunday School, presided at the meeting which opened with a song service.

Miss Dorothy Neipert and Mrs. Susie Neipert sang "Noah Just Looked Up". The Alliance Youth Choir, which includes Norma Parry, Debra Burkholder, JoAnn Widdows, Brian Burkholder, James Parry, Brian Widdows, Linda Burkholder, Laura Schoupe and Theresa Widmer, sang.

Rev. Roland Bowman of the Alliance called on three college girls for testimonies: Bernina and Sara Hostetter and Miss Ruth Meisenheimer. Rev. B. H. Hostetter gave the benediction.

Laurel At Height On Big Pocono This Weekend

Pocono Laurel isn't just reserved for Laurel Blossom Princesses, Mrs. Russell Hamblin, member of the Monroe County Garden Club and district director of the Garden Club Federation, pointed out when she called to advise Daily Record readers where they could find it in profusion.

The laurel is especially magnificent on the top of Big Pocono this year, she reports after a visit last Sunday.

"It's much pinker than the laurel around town," she said. "Perhaps because of the altitude."

She also predicted that it should be at its height this weekend and that there is a good black-top road all the way to the top of Big Pocono.

Hard-Topped Gardens For Early Crops

By EARL ARONSON

Asphalt paving and a petroleum based mulch may boost your garden crop yields. Researchers have reported notable success with both.

Let's take the hard-top first.

The time may be coming when farmers will plant in the early spring, then cover the seeded area with asphalt paving material as a cold-weather shield. And the farmer who plants late may paint ground over the seeds white.

The idea, tested at the University of Arizona, is as simple as black and white. The black asphalt holds moisture and absorbs solar heat. This keeps the soil warm after cold season planting. White paint reflects heat and protects seeds planted at midsummer for fall crops.

The thin covering of asphalt is applied to the plant row with a spray attachment hitched behind a planter. The substance dries rapidly. It isn't necessary to remove the asphalt after it has served its purpose. The strip disintegrates without apparent harm to the ground.

"It has been shown that crops planted in cool weather will germinate sooner, have better stands and grow faster where such a strip is applied," explained W. I. Thomas, an associate agronomist at University of Arizona College of Agriculture.

"The results have been consistent with a variety of crops, including corn, sugar and more than a dozen commercial vegetable crops," he said. "In all cases, when weather during and after planting time was cool or cold, response has been favorable."

The black asphalt strip absorbs heat and the film conserves moisture in the seeded. The heat penetrates the soil several inches and some warmth will be retained in the seed zone until early morning, usually the coldest part of the day.

At midsummer, the black asphalt strips may cause too much heat. But the soil temperature can be reduced below normal by spreading hydrated lime, Thomas said.

The principle is the same with the mulch, a water emulsion of petroleum resins which is sprayed over seed rows to form a film.

As with the hard-top, the result is harder, more lush crops because of the moisture-retention, evaporation-reducing cover.

The petroleum mulch was developed by the Esso Research and Engineering Co., which has conducted a three-year research program, including field tests. The researchers reported that yields of many crops could be increased by 10 to 11 percent.

The mulch may be applied by portable spraying equipment. From 60 to 150 gallons per acre would be needed, depending on conditions, including the three to eight inches suggested for the width of the seed row cover.

A major benefit of both the asphalt and the petroleum mulch is that they would permit earlier planting of crops.

Make Like A Laurel Blossom Princess With Jane's Barbecue Sauce Recipe

By LINDA PIPHER
Daily Record Home Economist

When my sister, Jane, was first married she asked my mother how to time a three minute egg and Mother told her, "Just walk around the room a couple of times." When Jane, very confused since she knew nothing about cooking, asked her how big a room, Mother just sighed.

The cooking genes got all mixed up in my family. Mother has always been a wonderful cook, but Jane, as a child was more at home in the woods than in the kitchen and preferred a gun or fishing rod to an electric mixer.

Kay, my other sister, had no interest either, and her first experience of cooking for my father was to fry whole, raw potatoes.

Apparently Mother was determined when I came along and she had me baking cakes by the time I was twelve. And although she steered me into a home economics education for which I've always been grateful, I learned that practical experience was still the best teacher. I've had my share of flops, too; my family will never let me forget the time I cooked smelts without cleaning them. Did you ever see small fish begin to bloat with heat? I haven't eaten them since, and that was ten years ago.

Once Jane got over the hump and her husband was still alive, she found that she loved to cook. She especially enjoys cooking over charcoal and has some wonderful recipes.

When the Laurel Princesses go to Bushkill Falls Monday for a barbecue, they'll be eating charcoal-basted chicken with Jane's favorite sauce. Every time she has served this chicken, she's been asked for the recipe which she originally got from Janet Lewis of Bushkill. If you like to charcoal, you'll love this sauce:

Jane's Barbecue Sauce
Cover the bottom of a measuring cup with garlic powder, then add 1 tablespoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, and 1/2 cup salad oil. Add 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Shake well and refrigerate several hours. This recipe can be doubled or tripled for a party.

Here's my recipe for my favorite barbecue sauce with a tomato base. It smells so good as it's cooking that it pulls the neighbors into the yard. It gives the chicken a wonderful flavor and I especially like it for basting chickens on the spit.

Texas Barbecue Sauce
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 cup salad oil
1 1/4 oz. bottle catsup
1-3rd cup Worcestershire sauce
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 cup minced onion
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon liquid hot pepper seasoning (optional)

Put all ingredients together in a saucepan and simmer twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Make

Too Tall Girls? Just Wait The Boys Will Catch Up

By Vivian Brown

Do you think you are too tall?

"Laugh it off. That funny feeling will last until you are about 20, then the boys sort of catch up to you," says pretty Paula Prentiss.

The Texas born movie star, 5 feet 9 1/4 inches, says she too had qualms about her height until she learned "to have a sense of humor about it."

A popular coed at Northwestern University where she got her B. S. degree and did graduate work until 1960, Paula is chestnut-haired, brown-eyed and bursting with gaiety. What's more she's a willowy type that most short girls would envy, and her height paid off. She got her first movie role because of it.

"The problem seems worse about the 9th grade though, when most girls are taller than boys. You've just got to keep thinking you'll live through it," she advises.

Paula's decision to look as if she enjoyed being tall wasn't easy at times.

A Sad Tune
"I had a terrific crush on singer Tommy Sanders who sat behind me in music class at Lamar High School in Houston. Our seats were built up on tiers so that we looked fine together sitting down. But when we stood up, oh my!"

There are ways to appear shorter, she discovered.
"I used to wear very long evening dresses, then kick off my shoes the minute I got up to a dance, and I could even bend my knees without looking too silly," she says laughing.

After she had made up her mind to live happily with her height, she just wore what she liked and let it go at that.

"There is a certain way tall women can wear simple clothes so that they look elegant. But tall girls must learn to be graceful. Some girls slump, trying to look shorter," she says.

Paula keeps her weight at about 120.

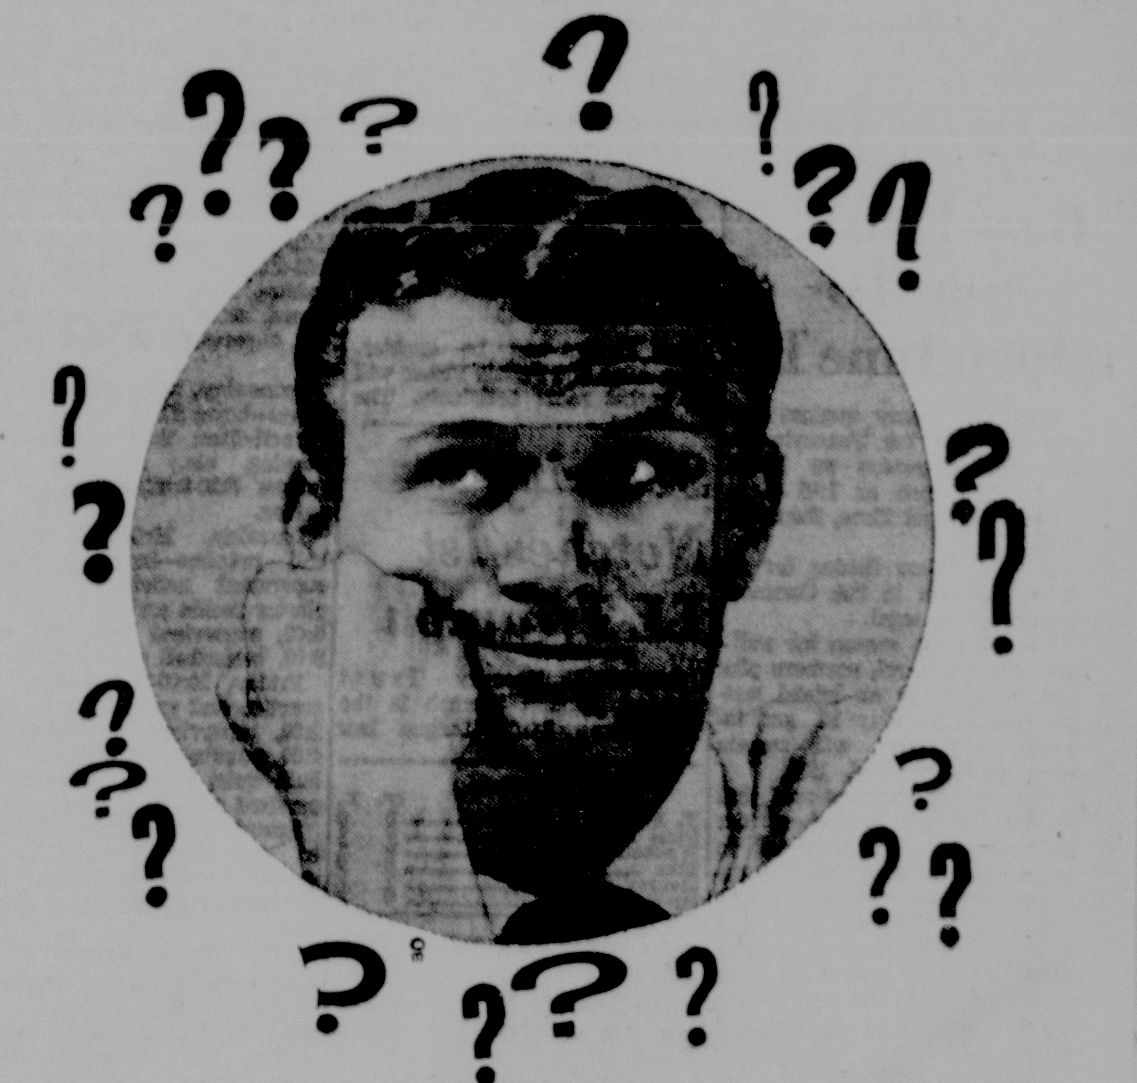

"I diet as soon as I gain a few pounds. I sometimes eat a tremendous amount for a few days. Then I cut down for the next few days," she says.

She studied acting at Northwestern where she had started out as a pre-med student for no particular reason except she'd studied science in high school. But drama sold her on returning for a year of graduate study.

"And I got a lucky break in one of our plays. A Hollywood agent saw me. He remembered me when he was looking for a tall girl to play a college girl in 'Where the Boys Are.'"

She's a recent bride of a tall man, Richard Benjamin, whom she married a few months ago.

"There are enough tall men to

You Can Talk Yourself Into A Part-Time Job

By Roberts Fleming Roesch

Since September I've had an office job downtown while the children were in school," writes a suburban woman. "But my days of working this way are numbered now, as I'll have to start staying home for the summer as soon as school is out."

"If at all possible, I want to get a part-time job that I can do from home for July and August, however," the reader went on to say, "because I need some kind of job to provide me with a few extra dollars for some summer treats for the children."

Ideal Arrangement

"A part-time arrangement — if I can find one — would be ideal, though, because that would furnish me with enough money for outings and at the same time it would allow me the free time to take the kids out."

"Do you have any ideas?"

If you're a woman who feels at home on the telephone, what about considering a job in which you do a few hours of telephone solicitation mornings before you take off for the old swimming hole or wherever else you plan to go?

Selling Over Phone

As you probably know, this work involves selling by telephone either a product or a service.

To qualify, you need a private telephone service that allows an unlimited number of calls to the area to which an employer assigns you and a pleasant, clear, speaking voice.

For my money, you also need plenty of practice in projecting the prepared sales pitch the company usually gives you. Do it in such a way that it sounds like conversation coming from you, instead of a canned speech memorized from a piece of paper and recited from a refugee of an old-fashioned elocution class!

Opportunities for doing telephone solicitation work lie in many areas.

For example, many public opinion polls, research organizations, food freezer plans, photog-

Women's Crusade For Seat Belts Puts Education Ahead Of Legislation

Washington, D.C. — The danger of complacency on the part of potential seat belt users was foreseen today by Mrs. E. Lee Ozburn, President, General Federation of Women's Clubs, as a result of legislation now enacted by 5 states which requires installation of automobile seat belts.

"Rudyard Kipling once noted that 'the horse is drawn by the cart,'" Mrs. Ozburn said. "We now have a modern-day parallel with passage of state laws requiring seat belts before the public has demonstrated that they will use them. Therefore, a special task faces all supporting groups to 'tell America' why they should USE seat belts."

Mrs. Ozburn called for a redoubling of efforts in the "Women's Crusade for Seat Belts," co-sponsored by the General Federation and the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee. The Crusade's goal is "Two Million and Two In '62." She stated all clubwomen, public officials and organizations cooperating in encouraging seat belt installation and use will need to convince car owners why they should install seat belts without delay and not wait for legislative action.

"We have added responsibility of pointing out to all possible users that only 10 percent of the personal cars will be affected by the new laws," Mrs. Ozburn added. "This leaves 90 percent of our car owners unaffected until they purchase a new car at any time between now and 1965."

"During this same period an estimated 15,000 lives could be saved if all cars now using our streets and highways were equipped with seat belts and they were used by drivers and passengers whenever and wherever the car is driven," she said.

Meeting this challenge through support of seat belt programs, such as the Women's Crusade, will aid public officials in those states now requiring at least two

Set A Pretty Table, Begs Frenchman

American women have an "inferiority complex" says a Paris-born gentleman.

He is Jacques Jugeat, who despairs because we keep our fine china, crystal and even silver packed away or on display like museum pieces, rather than use them.

"Maybe if men take over the cooking, women will have more time to set a pretty table," says Jugeat, who is doing his bit by writing a cook book for men only.

He doesn't know what gave us women the complex, perhaps worry about breakage, he says. This could be solved by washing important things ourselves and by giving up buffet meals.

"Buffet eating is a fizzle usually. Men do not like to eat on ciraas a.yw.Ha ocuyonynt alh their laps, anyway. How can you balance a plate, coffee cup and napkin without spilling food on your trousers and tie," he asks. "Then too, plates and glassware are left everywhere, on the floor, tables, window sills."

He suggests that American men could help women back to setting tables by bringing home a floral centerpiece occasionally.

"Even an ordinary Frenchman brings his wife flowers a couple of times a week. And it helps make even the family dinner a festive occasion."

Even in summer, a little dinner can be an occasion outdoors or indoors, he says.

"Light your table like a stage, dim enough to soften women's wrinkles, bright enough to see food. Use place cards to give a little dinner more importance, and a written menu which can be treasured by guests, especially if a certain dish is named for them," he says.

"American hostesses feel it is their duty to stuff their guests. It is best to let guests take what they want," he says.

Fruit and cheese are good dessert choices. A bowl of fruit can look beautiful in the middle of a table, and gives the woman on a diet the chance to take a few grapes, if that's all she wants.

Bass Fish Season To Open June 16

MONROE County anglers are reminded that the Pennsylvania bass fishing season on inland waters will open at 1:01 a.m., Eastern Daylight Time, Saturday, June 16.

At that time fishing for all species of fish in the Commonwealth will be legal.

This year the season for walleye, chain pickerel, northern pike and muskellunge on inland waters opened on May 12, and together with bass, will remain open until March 14, 1963.

District fish wardens said that fishing waters throughout the Commonwealth are reported to be in excellent condition. The unusually low level of most bass fishing streams and higher than seasonal temperatures should make for good fishing in most areas, barring sudden storms which might roll the exceptionally clear waters.

Regulations governing the inland water fishing include: bass (largemouth and smallmouth), minimum size - 9 inches, daily limit - 6 (combined species); pickerel and walleye, minimum size - 15 inches, daily limit - 6 (each species); muskellunge, minimum size - 30 inches, daily limit - 2; northern pike, minimum size - 20 inches, daily limit - 6. There is no season or size limit on panfish, including sunfish, bluegills, yellow perch, crappies, rock bass, catfish and suckers. Possession limit on these is 50 of each or 50 combined.

Fishermen are warned that the open season on frogs does not open until July 2.

Cards Dump Giants, 8-4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ken Boyer and Bill White each drove in three runs and Lindy McDaniel provided perfect relief Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals downed the San Francisco Giants, 8-4, for their fourth straight victory.

Yankees Blank Baltimore, 1-0

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees hopped on knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm for the game's only run in the eighth inning and beat Baltimore 1-0 Friday night for their third straight shutout victory.

Right-hander Jim Coates blanked the Orioles on one hit over the last eight innings after replacing Whitey Ford, who retired with recurring shoulder pains after pitching the first.

Chuck Estrada allowed only two Yankee hits through seven innings, but left with a pulled elbow muscle and Wilhelm took over in the eighth. Tom Tresh rapped his first pitch for a single after Coates, faking a bunt, sent

Hydroplanes, Runabouts To Race At Wallenpaupack

HAWLEY — Hydroplane and runabout racing are expected to attract some of the fastest drivers in the country with over 100 boats participating in the Lake Wallenpaupack regatta scheduled for Saturday, June 16, starting at noon.

Four classes of hydroplanes and four classes of runabouts will compete over the one and one-third mile lap course starting from White Beauty View Resort, Rt. 507.

The mechanics of the races will be handled by the Greenwood Lake Racing Club, Inc., of Chatham, New Jersey.

A special runabout race, limited to young drivers from 9 to 14 years of age is expected to be a highlight of the affair, with Jeff Greco, of Mt. Carmel, National Champion in this class, among the contestants.

That sent everybody scurrying to the record books.

Folk Dancer is owned by a New York broker and banker, Maurice Newton, and was obtained at the Saratoga yearling sales for $25,000. Aside from that, his major claim to fame was the fact that his sire won the 1953 Belmont.

Odds on the four leading contenders for this final jewel in the triple crown are so close the favorite may not be known until the 3:30 post time. Greek Money, from Donald P. Ross' Brandywine Stable, is a lukewarm 5-2 choice. George D. Widener's Jalpur and Peter W. Salmen Sr.'s Crimson Satan are both 3-1, with Decidedly from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch next at 7-2.

Owners paid $250 to enter and must add another $1,000 to start. If all go, the pot will gross a record $153,300, the winner taking $109,550.

The weather man promises mostly sunny skies, temperatures in 80s, and a crowd of 50,000 may turn out. The Belmont will be televised and broadcast nationally (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Belmont Stakes Is Open Run

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Four outstanding colts, including the winners of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, plus four others with lesser qualifications will do battle Saturday in the 94th Belmont Stakes.

Usually one, and sometimes two colts dominate the famous 1 1/2-mile event at spacious Belmont Park. But this race, on paper, probably tops them all with its wide open implications.

Seven 3-year-olds had been expected to go postward to the tune of "The Sidewalks of New York" at approximately 3:40 p.m., EST, Saturday. In addition to Decidedly, the Derby champ; Greek Money, the Preakness winner; Jalpur and Crimson Satan of the big four, they are Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Frank E. Power's Vinny Ridge and Louis Wolfson's David K.

But racing is full of surprises, and just before they closed the entry box the telephone rang and trainer Tom Waller told a clerk: "I want to enter a horse."

"Who, Prego?" inquired the astonished clerk. Prego ran 15th and last in the Derby, and 11th and last in the Preakness.

"No, I want to enter Folk Dancer, a chestnut gelding by Native Dancer-Almahmoud," replied Waller. "Bobby Ussery is the rider," he added.

That sent everybody scurrying to the record books.

Palmer Way Off Form, Pace Snead Leads Classic

By WILL GRIMSLEY
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Sam Snead, who has been winning tournaments for a quarter of a century, found a formula of youth in his brass-headed putter Friday and shot into the halfway lead of the $100,000 Golf Classic with a 36-hole score of 136, eight under par.

He had a 2-stroke lead over the field and 11 over the distressed pretournament favorite, Arnold Palmer.

"I'd like to withdraw and go to Oakland tonight," said the gloomy Palmer after adding a 74 to a previous 73 over the par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course. "But they'd hang me from the nearest tree if I did."

Oakmont, Pa., is the site of the 62nd U.S. Open Championship, starting next Thursday. It's one of the jewels in Palmer's bid for a professional grand slam and a tournament Snead never has won.

Snead — just turned 50 — fired a 6-under-par 66 on his second four of the 7,053-yard layout by one-putting 11 greens and chipping in from off the green on another.

He used only 24 putts—with 36 representing par—in his fabulous round. He three-putted the ninth green.

In second place at 138, going into the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday, were the 1961 U.S. Open champion, Gene Littler, who shot 71, 28-year-old Dave Marr, with a brace of 69s, and Earl Stewart of Dallas, with a 71.

Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., shot a 68 for 139.

Gray Brewer, the first round leader at 69, skied to a 74 and shared sixth place with Dow Finsterwald, Wes Ellis, Frank Boynton and Buster Cupit, other regular followers of the professional tour.

Players who shot 149 and better qualified for Saturday's third round. The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties for the final round Sunday.

Mets Snap Loss Skins; Start New One

CHICAGO (AP) — The victory-starved New York Mets snapped a 17-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday but dropped the second game of the doubleheader 3-2. The second game was called because of darkness in the last of the eighth.

Charley Neal's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning chased home an unearned run and gave the Mets their first taste of victory since May 20 when they defeated Milwaukee twice.

Right-hander Jay Hook, who halted a nine-game losing streak early in the season, was the starter and winner for New York although Craig Anderson worked the ninth inning. Hook (4-5) had defeated the Cubs three times this year.

Jim Hickman led off the ninth with a single and the Mets loaded the bases with none out as the Cubs botched a pair of sacrifice bunts before Neal delivered his game-winning blow.

Ron Santo's two-run single in the seventh inning proved to be the winning hit in the nightcap. The Mets scored in the first inning on a single by Elio Chacon, a stolen base and a single by Neal. The Cubs tied in the fourth on George Altman's run-scoring single.

Whitmore tossed a two-hitter for the victors. His mound foe, Wickham, allowed only three hits but was the victim of shabby support.

Whitmore also led Cramer's at the plate with two safeties.

Darr, of the losers, got the game's only extra base blow — a double.

Wightman Cup Team Selected

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. Wightman Cup team was named Friday and includes four of the same players who last year defeated the cream of Britain's women tennis players 6-1 in the annual matches at Wimbledon.

Selected to the team again are Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont of Joseph, Ore., who for the second straight year will be playing captain for the matches with the British at Wimbledon June 15 and 16.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif., and Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del.

The others are Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

The selection committee ignored Justin Bricks of St. Louis, a member of the team last year and America's fifth-ranked woman player, and Carole Caldwell, 18-year-old coed from Santa Monica, Calif., both of whom have played spectacularly in the current Northern Lawn Tennis Championships at Manchester, England.

Babe Ruth 'B' Drill Postponed

A practice session of the Babe Ruth "B" League scheduled for today has been postponed until Tuesday night at 6 p.m. at Gordon Giffels Field.

League president Dick Dishman last night announced that there are still several openings in the managerial ranks in the "B" circuit.

He reminded parents that unless more managers sign up, the "B" League would be discontinued.

Ex-Indian Mound Ace Likes Relief

BOSTON (AP)—Gary Bell, once the ace of Cleveland's pitching staff, hasn't started a game in nearly a month. It may be another month before he starts again. Or he may not start another game the remainder of the season.

The 25-year-old Texan, who won 16 games for the Indians two years ago, and was good enough to be selected to the All-Star team in 1960, is now the Indians' No. 1 relief pitcher and he doesn't mind it a bit.

"It's a new and exciting experience for me," said Bell Friday. "I didn't like it at first, but I do now."

Not Best Effort
Bell relieved starter Jim Perry in the eighth inning Thursday night in New York when the Yankees scored three times and shut out the Indians for the second straight day. It wasn't one of Bell's better efforts since the three runners who had been on base when Bell took over eventually scored.

One of the runs scored on a soft fly to right by Bobby Richardson that Willie Kirkland misplayed, another crossed the plate on an error by Second baseman Jerry Kindall and a third on a fly ball.

FENCERS HONORED — The U. S. Olympic fencing team, training here, was honored Thursday night at a meeting of the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. at the Pen and Sword Restaurant. ## Playing Regular Reason Essegian Is Feared Hitter

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Essegian has a ready answer whenever he's asked why after five years in the major leagues he suddenly has become one of the most dangerous hitters in the American League.

"For the first time since I've come up to the big leagues," said the slugging Cleveland outfielder just before leaving for Boston, "I've been given an opportunity to play regularly."

Since Manager Mel McGaha decided to give the dark-haired former ace fullback at Stanford baseball in 1953, Essegian has played with 19 clubs, and never has been with the same club two full seasons in succession. His major league trail has carried him from Philadelphia to St. Louis to Los Angeles to Baltimore to Kansas City and finally to Cleveland. The Indians purchased him from the Athletics last May.

In the 1959 World Series, he hit two pinch-hit homers for the Dodgers but the next year, he was sold to the Orioles.

"I thought after what I did in the World Series, the Dodgers would give me an opportunity to play a little more. But it was just another in a series of many disappointments."

NEW YORK (AP) — Teddy Wright is seeing more and more of the Moyers these days. Two weeks ago he fought Phil Moyer in Madison Square Garden and won a decision in 10 rounds. Saturday night Wright boxes Denny Moyer, Phil's younger brother, in the same arena. It figures to be a tougher fight for Wright who is an 8-5 underdog.

The match that will be seen on national television (ABC 9 p.m., EST) is the result of an involved series of postponements.

On May 26, Denny Moyer was to have met Wright. Denny had an infected left ear so brother Phil subbed and lost. Saturday night's match was to have been a heavyweight pairing of Eddie Machen, a stablemate of the Moyer brothers, and Cleveland Williams. When Machen pulled out because of an injury, matchmaker Teddy Brenner fell back on his original Denny-Wright match.

Denny, 22, is a year younger than Phil who lost a unanimous decision two weeks ago. Denny is ranked No. 3 by the National Boxing Association and No. 6 by Ring among the middleweights.

League president Dick Dishman last night announced that there are still several openings in the managerial ranks in the "B" circuit.

He reminded parents that unless more managers sign up, the "B" League would be discontinued.

SUNDAY

"Cabeza de Vaca," the last work of the late American composer George Antheil, will be given its world premiere performance in a special full-hour program this morning from 10 to 11 on Chs. 2 and 10. (This broadcast pre-empted "Lamp Unto My Feet" and "Look Up and Live.") The musical composition based on the

Henry J. Roeder

Eastburg Young Man Graduates

HENRY J. Roeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roeder, Laurel Court, RD 3, East Stroudsburg, was graduated from Valley Forge Military Junior College on June 6 with an Associate of Arts degree. He successfully completed the two-year liberal arts course, and will continue his studies in the fall.

While at the college, Roeder was a member of the Stephen Foster Honor Society, was a member of the NCO Detail, glee club, and choir, and was active in intramural football, basketball and softball.

He received the superintendent's award, expert rifle medal, an activities award, the Choir Cross, and was second in the oratorical contest.

HEALTH CAPSULES

by Michael A. Petit, M.D.

IS IT A GOOD IDEA TO DO KNEE BENDS TO STRENGTHEN YOUR LEG MUSCLES?

KNEE BENDS ARE NO LONGER RECOMMENDED BY MOST DOCTORS. THEY MAY INJURE THE SUPPORTING STRUCTURES OF YOUR KNEE JOINT.

Health Capsules gives helpful information. It is not intended to be a diagnostic feature.

Dear Abby

Get Behind Her, Satan!

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks after we were married my husband joined the Air Force. He was sent overseas almost immediately and will be gone a year. Before he left he asked his brother to look after me so I wouldn't be lonely. The brother is two years older than my husband and looks and acts enough like him to pass for his twin. I find myself thinking romantically about my brother-in-law. I love my husband and don't want to hurt him. I could close my eyes and think his brother was my husband. What should I do?

ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: Keep your eyes open. Wide open.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister, who lives in Germany, sent him a violin in 1914. It belonged to his grandfather, who got it from his father, so we know it has been in the family for over 100 years. When it came it was battered, but we had it refinished and it looks like new. We wrote to different people asking where to take it to have the value assessed and nobody answered. A friend of ours, who played with the Detroit Symphony, saw it and played it and said it had a marvelous tone. He wanted to buy it but we didn't want it to go out of our family for sentimental reasons. Inside the violin, printed on a piece of paper, not the wood itself, is:

"ANTONIUS STRADIVARIUS CREMONENSIS FACIEBAT ANNO 1732"

Is this worth anything?

MRS. M.M.

State Trooper Is Transferred

LT. EDWARD J. Switaj, Pennsylvania State Police, will be transferred from Wyoming Troop B barracks to Troop A barracks in Hazleton. Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said last night.

The transfer will become effective June 14.

LT. Switaj was stationed in the Stroudsburg area in the early 1940s. At the time of his tour of duty here he was a trooper.

of a "pistolero," an American in Mexico who lives by his six-gun talents and yearns for his lost heritage, on "Hollywood Special" from 8:30 to 10:30, Chs. 6 and 7.

"The Movie Star," a drama of the hysteria that arises from the death of an international motion picture idol at the peak of his career, is the "Show of the Week" on Chs. 3 and 4 from 10 to 11. Dane Clark, Norma Crane, Harry Townes, Nancy Marchand and Kathleen Widdows are the all-star cast of this production. Jack Smight is the director. Robert J. Crean adapted the drama from the original teleplay by William Bast. The original was presented in England several years ago. Bast also wrote the best-seller "Jimmy Dean—A Biography."

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his young wife have a four-month-old son. They also have a female cat. This animal is allowed the freedom of the house. She is on the chairs, sofa, tables, and even jumps into the baby's crib and sleeps with him at night. I worry that the cat might suffocate the baby. Is there any truth to that? Both parents have had ringworm from this cat.

WORRIED GRAM

DEAR WORRIED: Advise your son to ask his doctor about cats sleeping with babies. Especially a cat which has given both him and his wife "ringworm." If your son doesn't follow through, YOU do it. Your son and his wife appear as though they should be raising cats, not children.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GENE'S WIFE": Don't try to change the spots on a 66-year-old leopard.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Primary Expenses Must Be Filed

MONROE County commissioners remind all candidates who ran for nomination to office, including those nominated by write-ins or stickers, that June 15 is the deadline for filing expense accounts with the county election board.

If there are no contributions, disbursements or liabilities no account need be filed, but if receipts or disbursements and liabilities do not exceed $150 only an affidavit to that effect must be filed.

To Distribute Surplus Food

H. RAY Saunders, chief clerk of Monroe County commissioners, announced yesterday that surplus food will be distributed on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 12 and 13, in the basement of the courthouse.

Hours for distribution on both days are 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. All persons qualified to receive the food must bring their own containers.

June Bride

In a moment, the organist will strike a chord. There will be a sudden hush in the church, then the strains of the wedding march will peal forth and she will take her father's arm and start up the aisle, her measured steps symbolic of the very real hesitation she will be feeling.

She would not be human if she did not hesitate. These steps she is about to take are the most important steps of her life. She is poised on the threshold of another existence in which the pronoun she uses will be "We" and not "I." Soon she will learn to think of another before she thinks of herself. Presently, she will come to know fully the meaning of the word "share."

As she moves forward, she falters for just a second. Then her step becomes sure, her lips curve in a smile. The church through which she walks is dear and beloved to her—and so is the man who stands waiting for her beside the altar. Her marriage, blessed by faith, is beginning where all marriages should begin—in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Holland Furnace Purchased S-Burg Man By Republic Transcon Inc. At Meeting

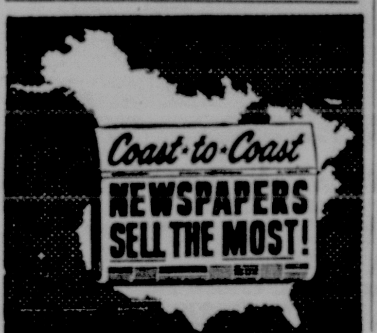

HOLLAND Furnace Co. has been purchased by Republic Transcon Industries, Inc., which claims to be the world's largest producer of hot water heaters.

Deportation Stay For Bufalino

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russell Bufalino, 57-year-old Kingston, Pa., drapery manufacturer fighting for four years a government deportation order, yesterday won another stay from forced return to his native Sicily.

Judge Edward A. Tamm of U.S. District Court granted the stay to give Bufalino opportunity to appeal to the Circuit Court. Tamm Wednesday upheld immigration officials, turning down Bufalino's contention his plea for permanent residence was arbitrarily rejected.

Deportation proceedings were launched against Bufalino after it was found he had attended the 1957 "Crime Convention" at Apalachin, N. Y.

and the originator of glass lined water heaters.

Milton J. Stevens of Beverly Hills, Calif., chairman of Republic, named as Holland Furnace president William Lennon, who is also president of Republic.

Lennon succeeds P. T. Cheff, who had been associated with Holland about 30 years. The company had been controlled by Cheff and his wife, of Holland, Mich. Cheff's family founded the company 56 years ago. The family will retain a large block of the stock of the company.

The workers refused Wednesday to cross picket lines set up by a number of other employees after eight men refused to carry out jobs assigned by a supervisor. The workers are members of United Steelworkers Union Local 178.

Union officials instructed the men to return to work pending discussion of the matter with management.

Universal-Cyclops handed three-day furloughs to 67 employees and a five-day furlough to another worker who allegedly instigated the work stoppage.

THE young men of the Methodist Youth Fellowship earned a goodly sum, last Saturday and Sunday when the motor boat races were being held on the river. The boys parked the cars and received half of the proceeds for the two days. Working at that were Paul Runyan, Jack Court, Larry Lightner, Alan Bryfogle, John Sipproth, and the youth counselor DeVice Keiper.

Rebecca Kaiser celebrated her third birthday with little cousins, Wednesday, at a cake and ice cream party at noon on the lawn at the home of her parents; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kaiser.

Further Report On Progress Alliance

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of three articles analyzing the results to date of the Alliance for Progress in Latin America. AP correspondent William L. Ryan traveled through seven countries, from Chile to Mexico, to get this up to date appraisal.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
MEXICO CITY (AP)—"You are fostering leftist revolution."

"You are abandoning those who were your strong friends in order to court the leftists."

"You are inviting us politely into your home to commit suicide."

So go the complaints on the right against the Alliance of Progress attempt to cure Latin America's dangerous ailments.

On the left the complaints go this way:

"The State Department is taking us over on a pretext of idealism."

"The Yankees are using the Alliance for Progress to usurp our sovereignty."

"The Yankees are talking about reform, but they don't mean it. In the long run, the money will go again to the ricos (rich men)."

Governments, and alliance itself, are in the middle between the two pressures. The general atmosphere throughout the continent has a look of confusion. Few attempt to define just what is the U.S. goal, what it is trying to do.

Many Questions
Is the United States really demanding reforms before help, or just a show of willingness for reform? Does it really, on the other hand, shore up shaky governments regardless of whether there are reforms? It attempted to do so in Argentina. Is the U.S. aim in Latin America democracy?

What kind? Much of Latin America is far from equipped with the U.S. brand.

If the aim is democracy, what about dictatorial governments like those of Paraguay, or Haiti? What about governments which are threatened by military dictatorship? What about governments leaning far to the left, like Bolivia?

These are only some of the worried questions being asked about the Alliance for Progress.

But at the same time Latin America represents 20 different problems, too. There is a growing tendency on the part of some Americans concerned with the Alliance for Progress to support the idea of setting up showcase development in just a few countries, to demonstrate what might be done all over the continent.

At first, these sources supported the idea of pilot programs in the important ABC countries—Argentina, Brazil and Chile. Now, with the chaotic state of Argentina and the perilous situation of Brazil, there is growing sentiment for a showcase program for more secure countries like Chile and Colombia.

Each country, say these sources, requires a different approach. Each Latin country requires separate study. All this takes time, and there will be no overnight miracles.

Latin America for centuries has suffered from the habit of "manana"—putting off for tomorrow what should be done today. Now, suddenly, many Latins, having noted the promises of the Alliance for Progress, seem to want to turn manana into yesterday.

Basic, the immediate danger in Latin America is not so much the threat of Communists, Castroists and military coups as it is a threat of internal collapse. The threat is real in Argentina, Brazil, Venezuela and other countries.

The alliance was supposed to stimulate private investment in the future of Latin America. But private investment has leveled off, and in some cases fallen off.

Has the alliance already bogged down? What's it done to date?

In Argentina, the answer is: virtually nothing. The disturbed political and economic condition of the country is a principal reason.

Loans Promised
In Chile the United States recently promised an $80-million loan for 1962, plus up to $40 million worth of surplus commodities, though it is doubtful Chile could absorb nearly that much of the latter. As for the $80 million, nothing has happened yet, even though it's supposed to be a priority basis.

Ecuador shows strong resistance to such things as land and tax reform, even though there are expressions of willingness at government level. Little has been done so far by the alliance in Ecuador. Even a program to provide schools seems unrealistic, since the government could not scrape up money enough to staff the buildings with teachers.

These are only a few of the complaints. There are many, on both the Latin and the U.S. side. Regarding land and tax reforms, in most countries there is little optimism. Rich men don't want to give up their lands.

Latin American nations have many problems in common: the problem of huge landowners controlling the arable land, problems of miserably inadequate housing, extremes of very rich and very poor, lack of skills among the population, lack of initiative, histories of violent politics, one-party economies, swift population growth outstripping economic advance, and the heritage of Spain and Portugal.

But at the same time Latin America represents 20 different problems, too. What's catching your eye more and more in daily newspaper ads?

ANSWER: COLOR! One of the most exciting developments in the newspaper business is the rapidly increasing availability and use of Run-Of-Paper color. In the United States and Canada there are now over 925 daily newspapers with more than 46 million circulation offering ROP color to advertisers. And more and more advertisers are taking advantage of this new dimension of newspaper advertising. Color is catching — and it is catching more, and more eyes in the daily newspaper.
